MT. KAILASH

A sublime treasure isolated in a remote corner of western Tibet

MT. KAILASH

In the holiest of places on earth, a majestic pyramid of rock and snow is the Mount Kailash. For thousands of years, Mount Kailash has been a place to seek divinity, purity and absolve oneself from their sins. Sacred to Hindus, Buddhists, Bonpo and Jains, it is known as the “Navel of the Earth”, where the divine takes an earthly form. Pilgrims travel here from all over the world to pay reverence to its mystery, completing its Pankrama (kora) following an ancient ritual of devotion. Trekking through the most surreal canyons and taking a holy dip in the lake Mansarovar, pilgrims experience a spiritual revelation as they reach the lofty pass of Dolma la, the physical and emotional high point of the journey.

HISTORY

Ancient texts depict Mt. Kailash as the center of the world. Within 30 miles radius of this snow-clad rock pyramid are the sources of rivers Indus, Sutlej, Brahmaputra and Karnali. According to holy texts of Hinduism, Mt. Kailash is the abode of Lord Shiva. Jains call Kailash as Mount Ashtapada, Rishabhadeva, the founder of Jainism is known to have attained liberation from rebirth at Mount Kailash.

VISIT MT. KAILASH

Pilgrims perform an arduous journey to Mt. Kailash performing a kora – a seriously challenging, 42km trek circling the sacred site. This guide is intended to help you carefully plan your spiritual journey to what Tibetans call Kang Rinpoche, Mt. Kailash.

MAJOR CHALLENGES

— Journey to Mt. Kailash —

As much spiritual significance as this journey holds to the lives of pilgrims, traveling to Mount Kailash is extremely challenging and difficult to organize. Traveling through strenuous routes at high altitude in a remote part of Tibet demands strong physical fitness and careful preparation. In addition, reaching Tibet itself is often a major challenge for many pilgrims.

This guide highlights the following major difficulties and helps them prepare for the sacred journey.

TIBET TRAVEL PERMIT

Obtaining the Tibet Travel Permit is one of the biggest challenges. Rules and regulations set by the Tibetan authorities can change frequently, making the process complicated.

Travelers must be fully aware of the latest requirements, as special permits are issued specifically for the Kailash Mansarovar Yatra. These permits can only be applied for through authorized travel agencies.

LACK OF BASIC SERVICES

Since the journey passes through remote regions, many basic services may be unavailable.

While travel agencies usually arrange accommodation, transportation, food, and water supplies,

- ✦ Mobile network reception
- ✦ Healthcare services
- ✦ Internet connectivity

may be limited or completely inaccessible at times.

HIGH-ALTITUDE TREKKING & WEATHER CONDITIONS

During the sacred kora (parikrama), the average trekking altitude is well above 4,000 meters.

This creates challenges such as:

- ✦ High-altitude sickness risks
- ✦ Extreme weather changes:
- ✦ Difficult navigation conditions.

Proper acclimatization, physical preparation, and medical awareness are essential for a safe journey.

PREPARE

Understanding and facing the challenges of the kora

The most challenging part of the journey is making the kora, and you need to be well prepared to overcome these challenges. The kora starts at Darchen, the base camp of Mt. Kailash.

STEP 1

UNDERSTANDING YOUR DESTINATION

CLIMATE

The journey to Kailash will take you through extreme cold, snow-covered, dry, and windy conditions. Temperatures vary from -5°C at night to $20\text{-}25^{\circ}\text{C}$ during the day.

- ◆ Pack warm, layered clothing to handle extreme cold
- ◆ night related medicines
- ◆ Pack warm, layered clothing to handle extreme cold night related medicines

ALTITUDE

During the kora, you will trek at altitudes over 5100 meters.

Make sure you are in excellent health before the trip. Ensure your travel agency provides oxygen supply for emergencies.

- ◆ Avoid If:
 - you are epileptic or prone to seizures.
 - Pack medications for altitude sickness for emergency use

STEP 2

PLANNING THE ROUTES AND DATES

Mt. Kailash can be visited through Nepal and India,
Choosing the right route depends on your time, budget, comfort preference, and travel season.

THROUGH NEPAL

- ✦ In Nepal, only travel agencies that are members of the Association of Kailash Tour Operators in Nepal (AKTON) are authorized to organize tours to Mt. Kailash.
- ✓ Always ensure the agency you book with is an official AKTON member.

① NEPALGUNJ – SIMIKOT – HILSA ROUTE

- ✦ The Nepalgunj – Simikot - Hilsa in Nepal route is a popular trekking route to reach Mt. Kailash. You can either trek to Hilsa or take a helicopter. Taking a helicopter is quicker and convenient but is comparatively expensive. Through this route, if you take the helicopter, the trip to Mt. Kailash along with the kora takes under 11 days. If you want the trip to be quick, comparatively convenient and spiritually fulfilling, this route is strongly recommended.

Best time to go:

May, June, September

(July-August tours may be influenced by the monsoon)

Kathmandu-Kyirong-Dongba Overland Route

Kathmandu-Kyirong-Dongba is an overland route for the journey to Mt. Kailash. The journey will be around 14 days long on land cruisers and jeeps until Darchen. However, this route is cheaper than the Simikot-Hilsa route despite taking more days to complete. If you want your trip to be more affordable this is the way to go.

Best time to go: May-September
(Depends on road conditions)

Private Helicopter Charters

Private Helicopter Charter is another option to visit Mt. Kailash. This will definitely be highly expensive, however will allow you to highly customize your own trip. A 5-person group is recommended if you want maximum economic efficiency, since regardless the number of people, the cost of chartering the helicopter is fixed.

Best time to go: May-September
(Independent of Weather)

Experience a well-organized and spiritually enriching journey with trusted expertise.

STEP 3

OBTAINING THE PERMIT / VISA

As per regulations of the Government of China, all travelers must obtain permits through an authorized travel agency. Individual applications are not allowed, as permits are issued under group visa regulations.

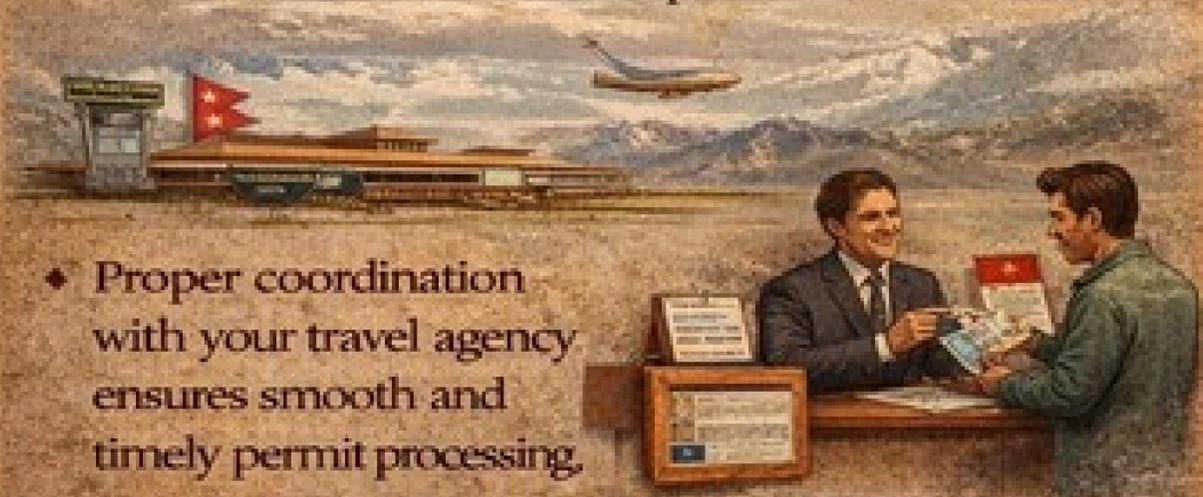

- ◆ Travel agencies apply for the permit on behalf of travelers and therefore fix travel dates, to form eligible groups. After purchasing your package, you must complete a booking form. Large groups may request customized dates.

For Non-Indian Travelers (via Nepal)

- ◆ Submit color-scanned copies of your passport to the travel agency.
- ◆ The agency applies for the Tibetan travel permit and group visa.
- ◆ Permit processing usually takes 15–20 days (subject to approval time).
- ◆ A Nepal visa can be obtained on arrival at Tribhuvan International Airport in Kathmandu.

15–20

- ◆ Proper coordination with your travel agency ensures smooth and timely permit processing.

For Indian Travelers (via Nepal)

- ◆ Indian travelers must submit their original passport to the authorized travel agency.
- ◆ The agency will apply for the required Tibet permit and group visa on your behalf.
- ◆ After visa approval, the passport is usually returned by courier.
- ◆ Since Indian citizens do not require a passport to enter Nepal (a valid government-issued ID is sufficient), you may also collect your passport after arriving in Nepal.

Important Notes

- ◆ Even if you already have a valid Chinese visa, you must still apply for a Tibet group visa when traveling to Tibet through Nepal.
- ◆ The eligible age limit for the Kailash trip is 18–75 years.
- ◆ Travelers above 70 years must provide a medical fitness certificate confirming good health.

General Itinerary During Kora

The kora begins at Tarboche, which is 2hrs drive from Darchen, the Base camp of Mt. Kailash. The kora is generally 3 days long. This is the common itinerary during kora.

1 Day 01: First Day of Outer Kora – Trek to Dirapuk

10:00AM – Tarboche is starting point for Kora. You will trek to Dirapuk (4860 m) which is 12 kms trek (5-6 hrs). You will visit North face of Mt. Kailash and touching the feet of Mt. Kailash (Charan Sparsh). Travelers who do not want to trek around (Parikrama) Kailash can go back to Darchen / Mansarovar and wait for rest of the group to arrive from Parikrama to arrive from Parikrama.

2 Day 02: Second Day of Outer Kora – On to Zuthulphuk with Trek to Dolma La Pass

07:00AM – Trek from Dirapuk to Dolma La Pass and proceed to Zuthulpuk (22 km trek for 7-8 hours trek). This is the most difficult journey throughout the yatra since you have to trek up to the 18,600 ft. From there, descend to Gaurikund and further trek along the river to Zuthul-puk.

3 Day 03: Drive to Dongba

08:00AM – After short Trek (2 hrs) and reach to the point where the coach will be waiting. You will then drive back to Darchen.

Day 03: Drive to Dongba

- ◆ 08:00AM – After short Trek (2 hrs) and reach to the point where the coach will be waiting. You will then drive back to Darchen.

Currency in Nepal and Tibet

For your travel, you need to well manage your currencies and know where to exchange the currencies. The following are the important details to get around with with exchanging currencies:

1 The Indian Currency is accepted in Nepal however not in Tibet

- ◆ The Indian Currency is accepted in Nepal however not in Tibet.
- ◆ You can ask your travel agent to exchange the amount to Yuan (Chinese Currency) for you upon your arrival. You can also exchange USD or INR to CNY in Kathmandu, Kodari (Nepal – Tibet Border) or Taklakot.
- ◆ It is suggested to carry minimum CNY (Chinese Yuan) 4,000 extra for any emergency.
- ◆ Any unused CNY may be re-exchanged in Kodari or in Kathmandu.

Potential Extra Expenses during the Journey

ponies

- ◆ Trekkers can hire ponies during the kora to ride ponies in case they are unable to walk. The rule of the Pony owner and Porter Union however is that Pony and/or Porter can be hired for full three days and not partial trip. Also the money has to be paid in advance and no refund is possible if you return back in two days time instead of doing the full three days Parikrama.
- ◆ You may be able to get a pony for a single day in certain cases but the prices are definitely going to be exorbitant.

emergencies

- ◆ You never know when you will get into an emergency situation. It is always safe to have some amount with you if you get into any kind of trouble.

OTHER EN-ROUTE ATTRACTIONS IN TIBET

During your journey to Mount Kailash, depending on the chosen route, you may visit several remarkable destinations in Tibet.
